Town Board Holds First Meeting

The members of the Town Board, met in regular session at the school-house Friday night with Dr. Martin, A. P. Johnson, J. M. Kennon and A. M. Burgher present.

These members had been sworn in previously, and they selected G. Hackworth in place of John Maxwell, who failed to qualify. Mr. Hackworth was sworn in by A. T. Whitt, and took part in the meeting.

A. P. Johnson was named as Chairman of the Board for the coming year, and G. Hackworth, Secretary. A. T. Whitt was elected Town Treasurer, without salary, and the Secretary will receive $2.50 a month for his services. An ordinance was passed, as required by law, fixing the time of meeting at 7 o'clock, p. m., the first Friday in each month, at the school house.

The usual monthly salary bills were allowed, and it was decided to renew the insurance on the school building and furniture, $2,500 on the former and $500 on the latter. The premium is $87.44 for three years.

After some discussion a committee was appointed to make arrangements with Wm. Eaton, who was elected at the regular election, to assume his duties as Town Marshal, and the same committee was also empowered to have the jail repaired and put in habitable shape, so that it will not be necessary to turn prisoners loose as has been the case for some time past.

John Potts, A. T. Whitt and W. T. McGuire, were named as the Board of Supervisors, and they will go over the Assessor's report as soon as he turns in his books.

Peter Rice

Peter Rice, aged 70 years, died at the home of his son, Matt Rice near Pompey, Sunday. Mr. Rice had been making his home with another son, Reuben near Levee, and was here on a visit. The funeral took place Monday, burial being in Douglas graveyard.

Died at Winchester

The funeral services of Mr. William Harris, aged Union veteran, who died late Thursday, were held at the Central Baptist Church Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. T. C. Eaton officiating. The burial took place in the local cemetery, under the auspices of the Masonic Lodge. The pall bearers were S. C. Boone, M. D. Royse, D. S. Haggard, J. C. Allen, W. E. Singleton, and C. G. Bush. Mr. Harris was one of the most popular citizens of Winchester, and was known by everybody as "Uncle Billie." He was born in Estill county, and married a Miss Nancy Fielder, who survives him. He was in perfect health up to a few minutes before his death and was engaged in moving his furniture from his former home on Buckner Street to 214 East Broadway, where he recently purchased a home. As he started to carry some small boxes into the house he fell dead on the sidewalk and was discovered by a colored woman who gave the alarm. — Winchester Democrat.

Mr. Harris was a cousin of Judge W. T. Adams, and was well known to many of our readers, who will regret to hear of his sudden death.

Stork Made 48 Calls Last Year

The books of the local Registrar of Vital Statistics, G. Hackworth, show that during the past year there were forty-eight births in Clay City voting precinct, 44 of which were reported by Dr. W. C. Martin.

There were also 19 deaths reported during the same time.

Meteor in Sky

An immense ball of fire crossing the sky early Wednesday morning, alarmed a number of timid citizens who happened to see it. A long flaming tail was attached to the ball, and it was visible for several minutes while it crossed from East to West. The light from it illuminated the town in a brilliant manner.

The Value of Education.

The following is the text of a talk prepared by D. H. Matherly, to be delivered to the pupils of the City School.

There is scattered over this broad country of ours, young men upon whom the major part of developing the future generation will depend; yet it seems as tho they are making slow progress toward the development of their possibilities. Here is where the responsibility falls upon the parents. In our little town here, many parents seem to be in an unconscious state, for the fact, that they allow their boys to cultivate the habit and desire for cigarettes, which are destroying the cream of their lives. And more than that, they keep their boys from school—take them from the care of our efficient and christian-hearted teachers, who are devoting every moment possible toward their development—and let them work for the little sum of thirty-five to seventy-five cents per day. Parents, put your boys in school and help them lay the foundation of future usefulness. Young man, arise; develop yourself and be found in that class of American youth who aspire to a higher and better education. During the last decade the growth in the number of those seeking a higher education has been phenomenal. This vast host of young men have chosen to pursue a college course rather than waste their time upon things of less importance.

Let us consider some things that led them to make such choice:

1.—Education increases the Earning Power of the Individual.

The average earning power of an uneducated man is not more than $1.50 per day. At this rate his earnings for thirty years, of 300 days each, would amount to $13,500. Suppose an educated man should receive a salary of only $900 per year, his earnings during the same period of thirty years would amount to $27,500, or $13,500 more than his uneducated brother. The college year of thirty-six weeks of five days each, would amount to 720 days or four school years, which are required to get a college education. A little figuring will make it plain that this man who received $900 per year, received $18.75 for each day spent in college.

2.—American Youth is ambitious to achieve Success in Life.

The ambition is a worthy one. By them any accomplishment is frequently measured by its money value, or its gain is personal pre-eminence and distinction. While this may not be the best incentive for pursuing a college course, nevertheless the facts show that in the increasingly keen competitions of the various occupations and professions, the man with college training has a decided advantage in gaining such distinction.

A college education is seen to be the shortest and best course for aspiring youth. With the disciplining and developing of mind which he has undergone in college, he readily surpasses his competitors who lack this thorough preparation.

Innumerable cases are on record to show that the most rapid promotions and highest distinctions in business and professional life have been won by those who first took time to secure a broad and thorough college course. Appleton's Encyclopedia of American Biography gives sketches of over 15,000 eminent Americans. Of these more than one-third are college men. It is estimated that one out of ten thousand uneducated men attain such distinctions as to merit notice in his work, while among college men one in every forty has received this recognition.

This gives the college man 250 times more chances of winning fame and distinction than his less fortunate brother who has not a college education. The higher the position or profession which we consider, the higher the ratio in favor of the college man.

John Burgher and family have moved to Lexington, where he has secured a position.

A number from here attended the trial of Marion Atkinson at Lexington last week. A second trial is set for January 20.

We are informed that the Mint Cola Bottling plant will shortly be moved to Winchester, where they will have a better opportunity to build up their steadily increasing business. We regret to see this business leave here, as we need it and other industries to keep going ahead. We need a Commercial Club here to look after matters of that kind and encourage factories and industries to locate here and stay here, but there seems little or no enthusiasm along that line, every one being content to let every one else shift for himself. Mr. McCormick will also move to Winchester with his family to have charge of the plant.

The following little paragraph hits the nail on the head pretty well. "An exchange says that alcohol will remove grass stains from summer clothes. The exchange is right. It will also remove summer clothes, and also spring and winter clothes, not only from the man who drinks it, but also from his wife and children. It will also remove household furniture from the house, and eatables from the pantry; the smile from the face of his wife, and the happiness from his home. As a remover of things, alcohol has few equals." Alcohol kept many a little girl and boy around Stanton from having any Christmas this year. The writer asked one little fellow what he got for Christmas this year, and he said, "Nothing" and the tears came to his eyes. The writer knows that the father of that little boy received a gallon of whiskey the day before Christmas. In another home in Stanton a little girl didn't get a thing for Christmas, but there was an abundance of whiskey ordered. The writer has been in that home, and alcohol has removed nearly everything from it, till it is little better than a hovel.

The writer was in another home of a man who ordered whiskey commemorate the birth of Christ, and all the household

I wish the public to understand something more about my booklet that I wrote on what the Presbyterian Church was and what some of its teaching was. This book Eld. P. O. Derthick has struck at with a very heavy club, but has failed to land one blow on one word or statement that I have made in my booklet.

I wish the readers of the Times to know that every statement that I make in my little booklet is true, and that I am ready to back up with the proof, at any time and any place.

And I also wish the public to understand that my booklet is not against any one, personally, except on the last page in which I refer to some things that Dr. Edward O. Guerrant has made on the mountain people. These statements I am ready to back up with the proof.

On the first two pages of my book are some articles that were taken from the Presbyterian Confession of Faith. On the third page some Questions and Answers, and on the fourth page is What the Will of God is.

Now, Eld. P. O. Derthick has not denied my booklet being facts, but has in a way tried to make it appear that I have applied it personally to Bro. Irvin, or some other good man. This I have not done, but have published in my booklet things that are in the Presbyterian Confession of Faith.

I do not deny that there are some people that are alive, and are living, a christian life with their names in the Presbyterian church, but I do deny that the Presbyterian Confession of Faith is true.

Eld. P. O. Derthick claims that we must recognize the rights of other men to their convictions. I deny it and claim that we are not to recognize anything but the teaching of Christ.

And I deny that the Presbyterian Confession is the teaching of Christ, and that it is not in accord with the teaching of Christ.

He claims that the Presbyterian church is a sister to the Church of Christ. I deny that the Church of Christ has any sisters. I claim that the Presbyterian church was organized 1,500 years from the time that the Church of Christ was set up.

goods in that home would hardly fill a wagon. There were plenty of men who ordered whiskey this Christmas, who needed furniture and food and clothing, and other things very badly in their homes. It must be very painful to the Master to know that some men celebrate His birthday in such a debauching way.

A HOME-MADE PAPER.

THURSDAY, JAN. 13, 1916

The new Board took office last Friday night, and started off on the New Year as though they meant business. One of their first official acts was the appointment of a Committee to see Wm. Eaton, Jr., who was elected Town Marshal at the recent election, and to arrange with him to assume his duties as soon as possible. They also empowered a committee to have the jail put in shape, so that there will be a place to put prisoners instead of having to turn them loose, after a conviction. The new members appear to be of a conservative nature, not seeking to put undue expense on the citizens, but still anxious to do what they consider best for the welfare of the town.

Attorney General Logan made a report to the Legislature last week in which he stated that the Kentucky Illiteracy Commission had drawn from the State, since the creation of the Commission in July, 1914, the sum of $1,485.82. This money he said, was drawn illegally, as no appropriation had been made for the Commission at the time of its creation, and was used in payment of telephone and telegraph tolls, postage, printing and the salary of a stenographer. Mr. Logan also recommended that if the work of the Commission is to be carried on, the Legislature should make some appropriation for its maintenance, as no more warrants should be drawn on the State Treasurer for money for this purpose. There is no doubt that the Illiteracy Commission has done an inestimable amount of good, both in this and other counties, and probably the Legislature will make an appropriation to continue the work.

The Attorney General also took up another matter that has been hanging fire for some year, the question of penalties collected by the sheriffs of various counties, when taxes are not paid before the 1st day of December. It has been customary for the sheriffs to retain this penalty, but the Attorney General states the money rightly belonged to the State, and he will take steps to try and collect for some years back, as well as in the future. This will make a difference of several thousand dollars a year to the revenue of the State.

We have recently added some new type and equipment to our office, and we are now prepared to turn out any kind of job work for you on short notice. When you want that next lot of printing done, give us a chance at it before sending it out of the county.

Women Shrink From Modesty

Bear Grievous Ailments Rather than make Condition Known

The subjects of complaints peculiar to women is a delicate one, yet it is a plain duty to let these sufferers know that most of the derangements from which they suffer are due primarily to nervous debility.

Many a suffering woman, influenced by shrinking modesty, has borne this grievous condition without complaint rather than make a personal appeal. When women say, "I am all run down, so nervous and weak," that means they are victims of the modern malady.

Such women, and they are a legion in every community, suffer from headaches, backaches, loss of appetite and sleeplessness. Their spirits are always depressed and their lives are not the normally happy ones of their more fortunate sisters. Often, too, there are spells of nausea, weakness, or even fainting, that make them feel insecure and to wonder when they will be embarrassed, or even in danger, because of their condition.

For such suffering women, Tanlac, the tonic, tissue builder, appetizer and invigorant, is ideal. Tanlac builds up the system, promotes digestion and proper assimilation of food, vitalizes the blood and brings back healthy color to the cheeks and real sparkle to the eyes.

Tanlac may now be obtained in Clay City, at Eaton & McGuire's and at Stanton, at Hardwick & Co., where its merits are fully explained.

And Powell "Dry!"

Clay City, the bustling little town on the Lexington & Eastern branch of the L. & N., about 20 miles east of Winchester, is now equipped with electric lights, according to news received here, and in this connection an amusing incident occurred Friday night. The train from Eastern Kentucky was several hours late and did not arrive in this city until 9:30 o'clock Friday night, traffic being delayed on account of numerous slides in the mountains. Mr. Horace Crabtree, a well-known citizen of Clay City, was returning from a trip to some of his mineral lands, in company with some friends from this city. When the train reached Clay City, the entire party of men were puzzled at the display of light and Mr. Crabtree did not recognize his home town until the train started out, when he was forced to hustle to get off. The plant was installed by the Peasite Company, which is constructing a great dye plant in Clay City.—Winchester Democrat.

COULD SCARCELY WALK ABOUT

And For Three Summers Mrs. Vincent Was Unable to Attend to Any of Her Housework.

Pleasant Hill, N. C.—"I suffered for three summers," writes Mrs. Walter Vincent, of this town, "and the third and last time, was my worst. I had dreadful nervous headaches and prostration, and was scarcely able to walk about. Could not do any of my housework. I also had dreadful pains in my back and sides and when one of those weak, sinking spells would come on me, I would have to give up and lie down, until it wore off. I was certainly in a dreadful state of health, when I finally decided to try Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I firmly believe I would have died if I hadn't taken it. After I began taking Cardui, I was greatly helped, and all three bottles relieved me entirely. I fattened up, and grew so much stronger in three months, I felt like another person altogether." Cardui is purely vegetable and gentle-acting. Its ingredients have a mild, tonic effect, on the womanly constitution. Cardui makes for increased strength, improves the appetite, tones up the nervous system, and helps to make pale, sallow cheeks, fresh and rosy. Cardui has helped more than a million weak women, during the past 50 years. It will surely do for you, what it has done for them. Try Cardui today.

comprise about one per cent of the male population, over twenty-one years of age, yet this one per cent furnishes more than one-third of the members of congress, over one half the presidents, vice-presidents and cabinet officers, and over two-thirds the justices of supreme court. Every chief justice has been a college graduate except John Marshall, who left college to serve his country in the revolutionary war. Although from our earliest history as a nation, the proportion of distinguished men who have been college graduates has always been large, nevertheless, with the rapid growth of our educational institutions, the numerous equipments and more thorough courses offered, the college graduate may be expected to be found in the front ranks of all the learned professions and play a more important part than ever before in public life.

That the college man is the successful man has been proven in other countries as well as our own. Meadly declared in the House of Commons that if any one would search the Oxford or Cambridge calendar for the past 500 years, he would find that the men who have been first in the competition of the school, have been first in the competition of life.

3.—Every Youth recognizes that College Associations will be of Infinite Value to him in After Life.

Contact with a faculty of scholarly, cultured and able instructors; associations with men of determination, of industries and noble ideals, gives the student an opportunity for the unconscious development which books could never furnish. The man of strong character, who is educated and energetic, finds that the college course gives him opportunity to utilize all the energy of the mind and body in the development of a noble manhood. He finds himself in an atmosphere where he is lifted above the petty temptations which drag men down to death, and it becomes his natural bent to climb toward a strong and vigorous manhood.

4.—Education develops the Student's Individuality.

Colleges are not for teaching special modes of gaining a livelihood. The purpose of the colleges is not to select the professions, but to give opportunity for self-discovery and the development of our talents along various lines until the individual is able to decide wisely as to what calling or profession he should enter.

There is something infinitely higher to be sought in education than its money-making value. The college is to lay a foundation on which to build the life and prepare the student for his training along his own special line of development.

5.—The Essential Quality necessary to the Attainment of Success, is Originality.

The man who follows the plan that others have tried and found to be a failure is sure to find little success. He must make for himself a place and use the mark until it is complete. This trait is best developed by a season at college. Here he learns the principles of scientific doing, and this is the secret of success. Imitation may accomplish something, but it will be very little.

The self-possession that comes of knowledge, independent thinking, and the ability to concentrate the mind upon one thing,—these are the keys of success.

These keys are obtained by the college course. And with these he is master of any and all situations that may confront him. He is the man of the hour upon whom the people depend for assistance in the time of need.

Parents, do you not think it wise to help that boy of yours prepare himself for the future?

Stand by his side and help him now. Keep him in the graded departments that are under such good management and help develop his possibilities.

Young man, do you think it wise to give up the idea of a higher and better education. If in any possible sacrifice you are able to obtain this priceless treasure? Not ten thousand times no! "No" it requires your very life blood and seems to be the ruin of all happiness. You will see in the end that you have selected the proper course. For the way may seem hard now, there will be a season which will compensate for all the trials and pain. That which pleases you now you may lose. But this college life is a life of such preparation as will enlarge your capacity for greater enjoyment, and, in the end,

Wants Investigation.

Mrs. Cora Wilson Stewart, whose action in drawing about $1,400 from the State, to carry on the work of the Illiteracy Commission, has been the subject of some discussion in the Legislature, has wired from Washington to Nat. B. Sowell, State Inspector and Examiner, that she desires a full and complete investigation of the affairs of the Commission, its conduct and expenditures.

The criticism of the Commission and of Mrs. Stewart was claimed by her friends to be very unfair, and certainly it seems that $1,400 is not such a great sum, when used for such a purpose, and compared with the immense sums that are wasted each year by officials of the Commonwealth. The work done by Mrs. Stewart has been of inestimable value to the country and State, and no voter with a sense of justice would criticize the expenditures she has made.

Atkinson Acquitted

Marion Atkinson was acquitted in Lexington last week on the charge of murder, Judge Kerr giving the jury preemptory instructions to that effect when it was brought out, after the prosecution had closed their case, that the indictment was made out wrong. It appears that the indictment, as presented when the trial was commenced, showed that Conlee had been shot in Fayette county, and the county attorney contended that the words, Powell county, had been erased from the document. The grand jury, which is now in session at Lexington is investigating the matter, and has also returned another indictment against Atkinson, although his attorneys claim that he cannot be tried again for the same offense.

Catarrh Cannot Be Cured

with LOCAL APPLICATIONS, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly upon the blood and mucous surface. Hall's Catarrh Cure is not a quick medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing catarrh. Send for testimonials, free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Props., Toledo, O.
